The reconstructed comedy, "Ole Oleson," will be presented at the Bijou Theatre next Monday night. This play in another form was highly amusing, and its managers claim that it is now better than ever. The vaudeville features, which will be introduced, include singing, dancing and other specialities. John W. Ransome and Maggie Cline, "the Irish Queen," head the company. Lester Wallack's "Rosedale," with Joseph Haworth as Elliott Grey, the dashing dragoon officer, will be seen at the Amphion next Monday night. He will be supported by M. A. Kennedy, Charles B. Hanford, Charles Abbott, Isabelle Evesson, Beatrice Moreland and Mrs. E. A. Eberls.

Hoy's comedy drama, "A Temperance Town," will be presented at Col. Sinn's New Park Theatre for another week, which will probably be its final engagement in Brooklyn.

"The Ticket-of-Leave-Man," Tom Taylor's standard old melodrama, made famous by the late William J. Florence, will be revived at the Star Theatre next Monday night by Walter Sanford's Stock Company. New scenery and original music will be features of the performance.

ABDUCTION CHARGED.

Mrs. Weidlich Says Harper Has Enticed Her Daughter Away. William Harper, twenty-four year old, of Logan street, near Ridgewo avenue, Brooklyn, was arraigned in the Gates Avenue Police Court to-day, charged with abducting Sophia Weldlich, fifteen years old. Last Thursday Mrs. Weldlich complained to Justice Quigley that Harper was continually annoying her and her daughter. Yesterday she returned, and said that when she reached home from the court the girl was gone, presumably with Harper. A warrant was issued and Harper was arrested by Agent Foulk, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

To-day Mrs. Weldlich said that Harper called on her daughter the day after his wife's death, two years ago, and since then has been talking nonsense to her.

She also stated that a brother of Harper was living with her older daughter in New York, while his lawful wife is an inmate of a disorderly house.

Harper was held for trial. aid that when she reached home from

The organization adopted the by-laws of the State Banking Association. The tmost important business considered was a proposition by President Jenkins to form a protective branch of the group to prevent fraud.

"The scheme," said Mr. Jenkins, "has been worked successfully by the Jewellers' Association. If a forged check is passed on a bank the forger is to be pursued and brought to justice at the expense of the entire association. Each bank is to bo known by a number in order to keep the matter secret."

The proposition was referred to the Executive Committee. The bankers stalked over a scheme by which all the sinancial institutions represented might be protected by insurance from any loss by dishonest employees. The premium for the insurance is to amount to one-eighth of one per cent, of the capital.
